From the Camp at BUHLAU, June 28.

THE King of Prussia having within this Fortnight past sent several Trumpeters to the Velt Marshal de Neuperg, to propose an Exchange of Prisoners, Grotkau is pitch'd upon to be the Place, and the General Officers are appointed for that Purpose.

On the 23d Inst. there was a sharp Engagement between the Prussians, and a Detachment commanded by the General Festititz, as follows.

The General having pass'd the Neiss with 1100 Hussars, and 500 Hungarian Gentlemen Volunteers, went and posted himself at Lichtenberg a little above Grotkau, from whence he sent out Parties every Day, which made Excursions as far as Breig and Ohlau, and often intercepted the Enemy's Provisions. Upon this, the King of Prussia order'd the Major General de Riedensel to advance to Lichtenberg, with Cuirassiers, Dragoons, and Foot Soldiers, to the Number of 3000 Men, and six Field pieces. He arriv'd there the 23d at Day-break, and extended his Troops to the Right and Left, with a View to encompass ours. But General Festititz being inform'd of the Enemy's March the Day before, had made due Preparations to give them a warm Reception. The Prussians fell on very briskly, with a general Salvo of their Small Arms, seconded by the Fire of the Field-pieces; whereupon the Hussars and the Volunteers pretended to retire and abandon their Posts, when the Prussians pursued them very hotly; but our Men immediately fac'd about, and fell upon them Sword in Hand with such a sudden Motion, that the Prussians could not stand the Shock, having their Ranks broken, and being put into such Disorder, that the Major General Reidensel had much ado to rally them. As he was apprehensive left General Festititz should fall upon his Artillery, he sent it for safety to a neighbouring Wood, and at the same time thought to draw the Hussars that Way into an Ambuscade; but the latter, content with the Advantage they had gain'd, advanc'd no farther. We took 64 Prisoners from the Enemy, and kill'd 140, with no more Loss on our Side than two Men kill'd and five wounded, but the Prisoners we took say the Enemy had so many wounded that they were carried off in eight Waggons.

Vienna, June 20. O. S. A few Days ago the Ministers of the Queen examin'd the King of Prussia's Answer to the Memorial which the Ministers of the Maritime Powers laid before him the 29th of last Month. As this Answer is couch'd in very indefinite Terms, and the King of Prussia does not explain himself upon the Demand of withdrawing his Troops from Silesia, the Queen has resolv'd to desire the Maritime Powers to engage him to explain himself more particularly upon that Subject. Mr. Robinson, Minister from the King of Great-Britain, receiv'd a few Days ago a Courier from Hanover, and went immediately to Petersburgh, to communicate the Dispatches to the Queen: We have heard since that this Minister thereby receiv'd Orders to make the most pressing Instances, to engage her Majesty to facilitate and hasten the Accommodation with the King of Prussia, representing the Prejudice which might result from a longer Delay, since it was reported that some Bavarian and other foreign Troops would speedily March: A Conference has since been held upon this Subject, the Result of which is not yet known. The States of Hungary have refus'd to receive the Elector of Bavaria's Protest against the Queen's Coronation, and have sent it back again to that Prince. It was observ'd, that the Ministers of Poland, Sardinia and Cologn, did not assist at the Coronation of the Queen.

Hanover, July 7. When Prince Frederick of Hesse Cassel, his Princess and his Sister, arrived Yesterday at Herenhausen, they found the King walking in his Gardens, where his Majesty embraced them all three with great Marks of Affection. The Princess of Hesse who had been for a long Time indisposed, is now in perfect Health. The Baron de Jaxheim the Queen of Hungary's Minister at this Court, has receiv'd Advice from his Brother in Law the Count de Neuperg in Silesia, that having received all the Reinforcements which he expected, his Army was little inferior to that of the King of Prussia; so that he need not be afraid, if the Case requires it, to repass the Neiss. We are assured, that in a late Conference betwixt his Britannick Majesty's Ministers and Generals, it was considered, whether it was not best for the English Troops that may be employed in the Empire, to be brought up the Weser, in which they are to land at Bremen.

Paris, June 19. O. S. A great Number of single Women are lately engaged for Missisippi, who are paid thirty Livres in Hand, and thirty Sols per Day till they go off, and are cloath'd with the Callicoes forfeited to the India Company: 'Tis reckon'd that they will amount to three Thousand, exclusive of several young Wives married to Artificers of various Kinds, who have offered themselves voluntarily. The King has lately passed an Ordinance, which is not nor never will be made publick but in case of a War with England. 'Tis in pursuance of several Memorials by those of St. Malo, and other Ports who used to fit out Privateers. His Majesty gives up his own Right to the Prizes taken by the French Privateers, and reduces those of the Admiralty to the Footing they were upon in the Time of Henry II. Of this Notice has been given to the Deputies of St. Malo, and other Ports, that their Marines may be ready in case of Accidents. But notwithstanding these Military Measures, and other Preparations which the Court is making both by Sea and Land, they desire nothing, and have nothing in view 'tis said, but Peace, to which the King is ever disposed to give his Consent, if he can possibly do it without too far engaging his Honour in it.

It

It is given out for certain, that the Engliſh have been obliged to raiſe the Siege of Carthagena, and the News is actually inſerted in the Publick Papers: if it be confirm'd we hope there will be no Rupture; whereas it would have been infallible, and ſpeedy too, if Admiral Vernon had taken Carthagena.

Venice, July 1. The Day before Yeſterday the Chevalier Peter Grimani, Procurator of St. Mark, was unanimouſly elected Doge of this Republick, in the Room of the late Mr. Louis Piſani.

Edinburgh, June 29. Laſt Week, as the Regiment now quarter'd in Glaſgow was under Review, a Commanding Officer was ſhot dead on the Spot by a Bullet from ſome of the private Soldiers Muskets.

There never was a finer Appearance of an early and plentiful Harveſt than we have juſt now in this Country; ſeveral have already made Agreements for Parcels of growing Corn, Barley at 10s. per Boll, and Wheat at 13s. 4d. and we have all imaginable Reaſon to think it will be cheaper; and we are credibly inform'd, that laſt Week there was Barley Meal of this Crop expos'd to Sale at Amwick in Northumberland.

Exon, June 26. By the Neptune, Capt. Painter, juſt now arrived from Gibraltar, we have the following Particulars, which may be depended upon.

The latter End of April, as Commodore Martyn in the Ipſwich, and Capt. Byng in the Sunderland, were on a Cruize, they ſaw nine Spaniſh Men of War of the Line, and three large Frigates coming out of Cadiz. The ſame Day the Commodore fell in with the Salisbury, whom he diſpatch'd to Gibraltar, from whence the Xebeck was immediately diſpatched to Port-Mahon, who miſſing the Admiral there, went in ſearch, and found him cruzing off Alicant. The Admiral ſent back the Xebeck to Gibraltar, with Orders for the Convoy and all the Men of War to be in Readineſs to put to Sea the Moment he appeared off Gibraltar, ſo that he would ſoon be with them. Having got together all the Men of War he could in the Mediterranean, except the Duſſley, who had a Fleet of Ships under her Convoy for Leghorn, he appeared off Gibraltar the 26th of May, and was joined by the whole Fleet.

The Admiral had then 12 Ships of the Line, the Lark of 40 Guns, three 20 Gun Ships, three Fire-Ships, one Bomb-Ketch, four Spaniſh Xebecks with 100 Men each, with Oars, and about 100 Merchant-Ships under Convoy, amongſt them the Turkey Fleet.

The 27th, the Admiral ſent the Wincheſter to inſpect narrowly into the Bay and Harbour, who returning the 28th, told the Admiral there was not a Man of War rigg'd in the Port.

The 29th, brought to a ſmall Veſſel, by whom the Admiral was inform'd the ſaid Spaniſh Squadron was off the Rock of Lisbon the 23d, and the ſame Evening ſpoke with another Veſſel, from whom we learnt, that the ſaid Fleet was actually off the ſaid Rock the 23d, and ſeem'd to be ſailing towards Cadiz.

The 30th, the Admiral ordered the St. Albans of 60 Guns, and the Lark of 40, to ſail forthwith for England with the whole Fleet of Merchants Ships, with Orders to lay by in the Night to wait for the heavy Sailors, which was ſtrictly obſerv'd, and every Ship in the Fleet is ſafely arriv'd in the Channel. The Admiral's Ships and Men are in excellent Order, and hope to give a good Account of the Spaniſh Squadron.---The above Account is confirm'd from Lisbon

By the Neptune, we have alſo Advice, that one of our 20 Gun Ships having promiſed to ſee 20 Merchant Ships 150 Leagues off Gibraltar, before he got out of the Gut, a Privateer attacked the hindermoſt Ship, upon which the King's Ship bore down upon her, and after exchanging a few Shot, the Privateer got cloſe at an Anchor under a little Neck of Land, the Man of War came likewiſe to an Anchor, and veer'd his Cable at full length, and the ſecond Broadſide ſunk her. The Crew getting aſhore in the Boat. She had eight Carriage and ten Swivel Guns, and ſixty Stout Men.

The Wincheſter Man of War has deſtroyed another Privateer of 19 Carriage and the like Number of Swivel Guns, but where it does not mention: The Relation runs thus, the Wincheſter's Barge diſcover'd her and a Launch in a little Creek, 'tis ſuppos'd the Captain ſent his Barge to ſee if any Rogues were lurking there, who ſuffered them to come within Piſtol Shot, and then fir'd a Volley of Small Arms into the Barge, killed the Mate and two others; upon which the Man of War brought his Guns to bear, and after a ſmart Engagement of near ſix Hours ſhe blew up. This is a Haunt not diſcovered till now.

July 1. The large Quantities of Corn brought by Shipping, and Proſpect of a plentiful Harveſt drawing near, hath been a Means of lowering Corn much, Wheat at 4s. 6d. Barley 2s. 6d. and Legs of Mutton at two Pence Half-penny a Pound.

Sir John Norris paſs'd by our Bar on Monday about ſeven in the Evening, and before Dartmouth next Morning, and the Wind continuing at N. E and blowing freſh, we have Reaſon to hope he is out of the Channel.

Turin, July 5. N. S. The Joy occaſion'd by the Birth of the Duke of Chablais has proved but of ſhort Duration, and has given Place to a general Conſternation and Grief, on Account of the Queen of Sardinia's Death, which happened at the Venerie on Monday Morning the 3d Inſtant, after eleven Days Illneſs of a malignant Fever. The King of Sardinia with the Duke of Savoy, immeditaely retired to Chartreuſe about three Miles from hence, and the young Princes and Princeſſes were all brought to this Place. The Funeral will be performed in the Cathedral Church of this City To morrow Night. His Sardinian Majeſty is under great Concern, and the Court is ordered to go into the cloſeſt Mourning.

LONDON, July 7.

Two Bomb Ketches, with Ordnance Stores, are order'd directly for the Weſt-Indies, one of which is to be commanded by Capt. Gregory, who in a Tender took the Spaniſh Privateer that had lurk'd about Havre de Grace.

Laſt Week there was a Proof of Gunpowder for his Majeſty's Service made at Woolwich Warren, before his Grace the Duke of Montague, Maſter of the Ordnance, & ſeveral principal Officers and Engineers, which anſwer'd to Satisfaction. This Cuſtom was introduced on the Rumour about Town, that in the Engagement with the Spaniſh Prize, the Princeſſa Man of War, the Shot from our Ships did not do the ſame ſmart Execution as thoſe of the Enemy.

On Saturday ſeveral Companies of Col. Peers's Regiment of Welſh Fuſileers, amounting to about 400 Men, march'd through the City of Eſſex, on their Route to Colcheſter, where their Baggage was ſent before.

CHARLES-TOWN, Auguſt 6.

The following is Part of a Letter from Captain Thomas Haday, to a Gentleman in this Town, dated Cape-Fear, July 7. 1741.

THIS comes to acquaint you of the Misfortune of having my Sloop taken laſt Sunday Morning, about nine of the Clock, about ten Leagues up the Sound within the Bar of Ocacock, by a Spaniſh Privateer's Long-Boat, in a Calm, being then on my Paſſage for the Weſt-Indies: Upon which I immediately apply'd myſelf to the commanding Officer there, who ſent an Expreſs to this Place, which I choſe to carry myſelf.

The Gentlemen here upon my Arrival have fitted out the Letter of Marque Ship, Capt. Walker, with 100 Hands; and a ſmall Scooner with 50 Hands: And I hope to have the Pleaſure of ſeeing the Spaniards brought in by them.

The Prizes that the Spaniſh Privateer has taken, are two Ships, three Sloops, and one Scooner: One of the Ships was Capt. Dupey, bound from Boſton for Charles-Town. The Spaniards have built themſelves Tents on Ocacock-Iſland; two of the Sloops lye in Teache's Hole, and the two Ships lye at an Anchor off the Bar. The Privateer is a high Stern black Sloop with about about 100 Men on board, and a very heavy Sailor. By the Accounts of ſeveral People who have eſcaped from them, they have burnt ſeveral Houſes, and deſtroyed great Numbers of Cattle.

The Amount of our Cargo taken, being Proviſions, the Sloop included, is upwards of Seven Hundred Pounds Sterling.

Extract of a private Letter from a Gentleman at Cape-Fear, dated Wilmington, July 21, 1741.

WE do not hear that our Privateer is yet ſail'd, but rather a-Ground laſt Night, but expected to get off the Tide following.

About three Weeks ago Capt. Peacock, (who arrived here laſt Week) ſaw a fine clean Ship, with a Sloop on one ſide and a Scooner on the other, lying at Anchor off Ocacock Inlet, to which he gave Chaſe in order (ſuppoſing them to be Friends) to get ſome Proviſions of them, which he was in great Want of; but by that Time he got within a Mile of them, they all weigh'd Anchor and bore away before the Wind, one of which he could diſcern to be a large black Sloop Spaniſh Privateer as deſcribed in Captain Haday's Letter, and the Ship and Scooner he ſuppos'd to be her Prizes. Before the Spaniards weigh'd Anchor they were ſeen by Capt. Peacock, burning the Tents they had built on Ocacock-Iſland.

A Scooner belonging to Capt. Thomas Henning, and a Sloop belonging to Capt. Jonathan Skrine, both of Winyaw, are ſuppoſed to be fallen into the Hands of the Spaniards, having both ſail'd from North-Carolina about fifteen Weeks ſince.

Many other Veſſels bound for this Place, are ſuppos'd to have been taken by the Spaniſh Privateers which infeſt our Coaſt; particularly Capts. Skut and Wellon from Boſton, and two Sloops from New-York.

On Saturday laſt ſail'd on a Cruize his Majeſty's Ship the Tartar Pink, the Hon. Capt. George Townſhend, who at the ſame time took ſeveral outward bound Veſſels under Convoy.

Laſt Tueſday Night the Houſe wherein Mr. Moſes Mitchell lives, the Corner of Unity-Alley fronting Union-Street, was ſet on Fire by ſome malicious Perſon, in this Manner, a ſmall Bundle of Straw was laid on the Roof of the next Houſe in the Alley, againſt the Gable-End of the ſaid Mitchell's, and that in ſo convenient a Manner that it could not have fail'd conſuming both Houſes, nay, even all that Part of the Town; had not Mrs. Mitchell been happily walking in her Yard a little Time after it was on Fire; and it happened luckily alſo, that Mr. Mitchell had two Pails of drinking Water in his Houſe to extinguiſh the Fire, which would otherwiſe have ſpread very much in a few Minutes. The next Morning a Mulatto Wench belonging to Mr. Francis Varambaut, nam'd Catherine, was taken up on ſtrong Suſpicion; in the Afternoon ſhe was tried according to Law, and denied the Fact for which ſhe was apprehended, but a ſtrong Evidence appearing againſt her, ſhe was convicted, brought in guilty and condemn'd; and this Morning receiv'd Sentence of Death. We hear ſhe is very obſtinate and will not confeſs.

Capt. Benjamin Maverick Commander of a Scooner belonging to Iſaac Mazyck, Eſq; of this Place, is come to Town from Bull's-Iſland, and gives us the following Account, that laſt Monday Morning about 8 o'Clock, he ſet Sail from Santee for Winyaw, about 12 ſaw a Sloop bearing down upon him ſo near that he could ſee their Oars, and rowed up with him very faſt, when the Sloop had got within a Mile of him it fell flat Calm, and he hoiſted Colours, but the Sloop not ſhewing her's, he ſuſpected her to be an Enemy, took out the Boat and with his two Negroes and white Lad made the beſt of his Way for the Shore, leaving his Scooner with all her Sails ſtanding: When he got aſhore, he ſaw the Sloop board her, and then both ſtood out to Sea: His Majeſty's Ship the Tartar Pink being then in Sight, and (as he ſuppoſes) about three Leagues from the Shore, at an Anchor; about Sun-ſet ſhe went under Sail, he believ'd in Purſuit of the aboveſaid Sloop.

Auguſt 15. Thurſday a Negro Man Slave belonging to Mr. John Garnier, was burnt to Death, having been convicted on his own Confeſſion, and the Evidence of Kate a Negro Woman Slave belonging to Mr. Francis Varambaut, of ſetting Fire to a Houſe where Mrs. Snowden lives, with a malicious and evil Intent of burning down the remaining Part of the Town; the ſaid Kate had been before convicted of the ſame Crime on the Evidence of Jenny on old Negro Woman, who happened when this wicked Act was perpetrated, to be alone in the Houſe, and no Body had been with her but Kate for ſome Time before the People cried out Fire; Kate on her Tryal would own no Accomplice, ſeeing the Preparation making for her Execution, and receiving a Promiſe of Pardon if ſhe would confeſs the Perſon or Perſons really concern'd with her, ſhe accuſed this Boatſwain; on his Tryal after much Prevarication and accuſing many Negroes, who upon a ſtrict Examination were found to be innocent, he confeſſed that none but he and Kate where concerned, that he took the Brand-End from her together with a Light-Wood Junk Kate had taken from behind the old Woman's Box where it was hid, which when found in the Fire, the old Woman knew, and that he went ſoftly up Stairs and put the Fire under the ſhingles, and that in returning he ſtumbled on the Stairs, and Jenny crying out in a Fright, who was there, Kate anſwered Me, and the Fellow got out at the Back Door, without the old Woman's ever perceiving him: He would make no Confeſſion, but died like an impudent hardened Wretch as he was. And Kate being poſitive, that there was no other Negro with them; it is probable there was no Plot in the Caſe, but the Effect of his own ſottiſh wicked Heart, eſpecially ſince he looked upon every white Man he ſhould meet as his declared Enemy.

Auguſt 22. Thurſday the 13th Inſtant arrived here a Spaniſh Privateer Sloop, with 12 Guns and 65 Men; ſhe was taken on Saturday the 17th near our Bar, by the Hon. Capt. George Townſhend in his Majeſty's Ship the Tartar Pink, after a Chaſe of 15 Hours with a ſtrong Gale of Wind.

Laſt Friday arrived here Capt. Nicholas Legall in the Snow Elizabeth, Capt. Nath. Shaw, who gives us ths following Account, viz. that on the 20th of July laſt his Scooner was taken, off the Bahama Iſlands, by a large black Spaniſh Privateer Sloop, with 6 ſmall Carriage Guns and 135 Men, and is a Prime Sailor; that on the 21ſt the Snow Elizabeth aforeſaid, was alſo taken, after which 24 Spaniards were put on board both Prizes, with Orders to proceed immediately to the Havannah or Cape Francois, and the Privateer proceeded to Cruize to the Northward: The two Prizes meeting with nothing but contrary Winds, cauſed the Spaniards to come ſo ſhort of Proviſions, that they reſolved to ſtrip the Engliſhmen, give them the Snow ſhe being leaky, and turn them a-drift, all which they accordingly did on the 17th Inſtant, leaving no Inſtruments on board, nor any thing elſe than a Main-Top-Sail and an old Fore-Sail, even thoſe not without being cut almoſt to Pieces, as Marks of Spaniſh Generoſity.

BOSTON, September 7.

We hear from New-Hampſhire, that Capt. Warren in his Majeſty's Ship Squirrel, arrived there on Friday laſt, and is to ſail the 12th Inſtant.

Province-Town, Auguſt 22. This Day a Man of this Town diſcover'd on the Back of the Cape, a large Quantity of Snow buried under the Sand; and it's judg'd that a conſiderable Part of it will lye there undiſſolv'd till another Year at leaſt.
